

Wrestling Experiment

In an effort to conform with NFHS wrestling rules and to have input on rule changes, we have requested that the WIAA modification to injury time-outs regarding injuries to the head and neck involving cervical column, nervous system, and/or concussion be made an NFHS wrestling rule. The proposed rule to be used is currently a WIAA State Regulation.

ART. 4 . . . CONCUSSION

a. Any contestant who exhibit signs, symptoms or behaviors consistent with a concussion (such as loss of consciousness, headache, dizziness, confusion or balance problems) shall be immediately removed from the match and shall not return to competition until cleared by an appropriate health-care professional. (See NFHS Suggested Guidelines for Management of Concussion in Sports, in Appendix B.)

b. The following modifications to injury time-outs will be used in all competition regarding injuries to the head and neck involving cervical column and/or nervous system: (1) In the absence of certified medical personnel, (physician and/or licensed athletic trainer) all injuries to the head and neck involving the cervical column and/or nervous system will be covered by the same time frame as other injuries. (See 8-2-1) (2) When certified medical personnel are present, they have jurisdiction to extend the allowed time limit to a maximum of four minutes for evaluation of the injuries to the head and neck involving cervical column and/or nervous systems only, at which time the athlete would be required to prepare without delay for continuation or default the match. (3) A second occurrence of injury to the head and neck involving cervical column and/or central nervous system in the same match shall require the wrestler to default the match. Note: When this provision is used, the time consumed for the injury will in no way affect time used, or available, for other types of injuries.

This proposal allows more time to evaluate potential concussions and injury to neck and cervical column when an appropriate health-care provider is present. If appropriate health-care provider is not present, the regular injury time is used. It can only be used once to avoid fake injuries. It cannot be used for any other types of injuries. An additional four minutes is reasonable and has worked well in Wisconsin.

Data will be kept by athletic trainers throughout the regular and tournament season in 2018-19 season and results will be shared with NFHS and wrestling committee. The form is located online.

CERVICAL COLUMN AND / OR NERVOUS SYSTEM TIME OUT

How is the 1.5 minute injury time out different than the 4 minutes allowed to evaluate a wrestler that has an injury to the head / neck / or vertebral column (together known as the CNS)? If a wrestler has a CNS (central nervous system) injury, the licensed athletic trainer or a doctor may extend the normal 1.5 minutes of IT to 4 minutes to assure that a proper evaluation is completed. Upon completion of the 4 minutes, if deemed OK to wrestle by the medical attendant, the wrestler must be prepared to wrestle without delay. If they are unable to do so, or additional time is needed for the evaluation, the wrestler will lose by default. A second occurrence of any CNS injury (any amount of time) to the same wrestler will result in a default. As a result, the injured wrestler loses by default. This type of injury time out will count as 1 of your 2 allotted time outs. When this rule is applied, time consumed will in no way affect time used or available for other types of injuries. So, the wrestler may still have a time out remaining and 1.5 minutes of injury time left for a non-CNS injury. If the injury is caused by an illegal hold (perhaps a slam) then 4 minutes may be allowed for recovery time if requested by the trainer. If unable to continue, the injured contestant wins by default.

How do you handle this type of injury if there is no medical personal present? In the absence of a certified medical personnel (physician and/or licensed athletic trainer), all injuries to the head and neck involving the cervical column and or CNS will be covered in 1.5 minutes like all other injuries.

Who determines if it is a CNS injury? Not the official! After a small amount of injury time has elapsed, the official may ask the LAT / doctor if the injury is a CNS injury. If it is, ask them if they would like to extend the time to 4 minutes to make a proper evaluation. It is part of the official's job to meet with the trainer(s) prior to competition to make sure they understand the rule and how you/they intend to apply it.

What do you mean by "extend the time"? Sometimes the medical attendant does not feel they need more than 1.5 minutes and they work on the athlete for almost the entire 1.5 minutes and then ask to "extend" the time. They certainly can do this. If they had used the entire 1.5 minutes they would then have 2.5 minutes left to complete the CNS evaluation. You do not get the 1.5 minutes then an additional 4 minutes!

What happens if they chose to extend the time and end up using only 3.5 minutes total? If they chose to extend the time, using any part of the extended time is equivalent to using the entire 4 minutes. You cannot 'bank' any part of it.

Explain how the extended time would work when applying recovery time due to an illegal hold. For example, if the wrestler receives a head injury due to slam, after 1 minute the trainer indicates they would like to extend the time for a proper exam. They would now have an additional 3 minutes for their evaluation. When the time elapses, if the athlete is deemed good to go by the trainer, they would continue. Remember, a coach may overrule the decision of the trainer / doctor that declares that the wrestler may continue. A coach may not overrule when medical personal states they may not continue. If unable to continue, they win by default. If they do continue and they have another CNS injury, related or not related to the first one, the athlete would lose by default. They may have a remaining ITO and if so may use it for non CNS injuries.

SUMMARY

- In the absence of a certified medical personnel (physician and/or licensed athletic trainer), all injuries to the head and neck involving the cervical column and or CNS will be covered in 1.5 minutes
- When a LAT or physician is present, they may extend the allowed time to a maximum of 4 minutes for evaluation, after 4 minutes, the athlete would be required to prepare to wrestle without delay (if unable - they will default)
- A second occurrence (to the same wrestler) of any cervical column and/or CNS injury (any amount of time) will result in a default
- This type of injury will always count as 1 of your 2 allotted time outs
- When this rule is applied, time consumed will in no way affect time used, or available, for other types of injuries
- If caused by an illegal hold then 4 minutes may be requested by medical personal for recovery time, if unable to continue, then the injured contestant wins by default
- If the contestant uses 4 minutes for recovery time and continues, the second time any injury covered under this rule occurs - the injured contestant loses by default
- A LAT or physician may terminate a match at any time due to illness or injury
